BRIANNE ENGLER • WINEMAKER

Brianne grew up in the small seaside town of Pacific Grove, California and started working at a high-end restaurant at the age of 15 years old where she was first exposed to the world of wine. She began her formal winemaking education at Cal Poly State University, and earned a Bachelor's Degree in Wine and Viticulture. In addition to that, she holds the Level 3 Advanced Certification with The Wine & Spirit Education Trust.

Over her 20 years in the winemaking industry, Brianne has had the opportunity to work at several notable wineries including Two Hands in South Australia, Duckhorn and Quintessa in Napa Valley and Adelaida Cellars in Paso Robles. She was named Winemaker in 2022 after her second harvest with Chamisal Vineyards, where she continues her pursuit to craft world-class wines. With each wine she makes she strives to honor the terroir from which the grapes are grown and to capture the essence of San Luis Obispo's coastal sunshine, soil, and the uniqueness of each vintage.

On her days away from the winery, she can be found at a local Farmers Market, hiking up a mountain, paddling outrigger canoes and enjoying some beach time on California's coast.
